

Allianz Income and Growth

- 3 disciplines, 1 goal: income and growth
- Monthly dividends from broadly diversified sources
- Multi-asset tool for safeguarding against volatility

Allianz Income and Growth

The Fund adopts a “three-sleeves” approach, with the core holdings invested primarily in a portfolio consisting of 1/3 US high-yield bonds, 1/3 US convertible bonds and 1/3 US equities/equity securities. It aims to capture multiple sources of income and includes participation in the upside potential of equities at a potentially lower level of volatility than pure-equity investment.

High Yield Bonds:

Offering one of the highest yields globally

- High yield bonds are among the highest yielding fixed income options, offering a competitive level of yield with lower interest rate sensitivity.

US high yield bonds offer competitive total return potential

Convertible Bonds:

Potential for upside participation and less downside risk

- Convertible bonds combine the features of both bonds and equities. This allows investors to participate in potential equity price appreciation and manage downside risks given its bond feature.
- Importantly, they provide investors with the flexibility to cope with market volatility.

Equities: Earnings growth

- Earnings growth is projected to continue in 2025 and 2026, despite potential market volatility.
- The equity market could potentially benefit from ongoing Federal Reserve easing, economic growth, and an accelerating or inflecting earnings from more companies.

Fund Features

Diversified combination of three asset classes

- 3 asset classes, 1 goal – income and growth
- Through the three asset classes, the Fund aims to provide a steady source of income.

The Fund aims to provide:

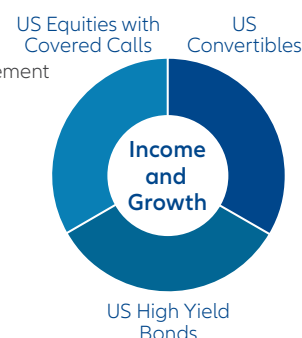

- Consistent income
- Long-term capital growth
- Upside participation, downside management

Seven potential sources of income:

- US High-yield bond coupons
- US Convertible security coupons
- US Equity dividends
- Gains from the US equities
- Gains from the US convertible securities
- Gains from the US high-yield bonds
- Covered call option premiums

Portfolio construction:

- Static allocation
- Capital structure opportunity

In making investment decisions, investors should not rely solely on this publication but should seek independent professional advice. However, if you choose not to seek professional advice, you should consider the suitability of the product for yourself. Past performance of the fund manager(s) and the fund is not indicative of future performance. Prices of units in the Fund and the income from them, if any, may fall as well as rise and cannot be guaranteed. Distribution payments of the Fund, where applicable, may at the sole discretion of the Manager, be made out of either income and/or net capital gains or capital of the Fund. As a result of the payment, the Fund's net asset value is expected to be immediately reduced. The dividend yields and payouts are not guaranteed and might change depending on the market conditions or at the Manager's discretion; past payout yields and payments do not represent future payout yields and payments. Investment involves risks including the possible loss of principal amount invested and risks associated with investment in emerging and less developed markets. The Fund may invest in financial derivative instruments and/or structured products and be subject to various risks (including counterparty, liquidity, credit and market risks etc.). Investing in fixed income instruments (if applicable) may expose investors to various risks, including but not limited to creditworthiness, interest rate, liquidity and restricted flexibility risks. Changes to the economic environment and market conditions may affect these risks, resulting in an adverse effect to the value of the investment. During periods of rising nominal interest rates, the values of fixed income instruments (including short positions with respect to fixed income instruments) are generally expected to decline. Conversely, during periods of declining interest rates, the values are generally expected to rise. Liquidity risk may possibly delay or prevent account withdrawals or redemptions. Past performance, or any prediction, projection or forecast, is not indicative of future performance.
